The new teaching method which we called the modern teaching method is more activity-based and centers the learner's mind which involves them entirely into the process of learning. In the modern teaching method, curriculum teaching and planning are done keeping the learner as the primary target. Advantages of Modern teaching methods should consider conventional methods of teaching as its base and learners should not neglect it completely while incorporating the new ones. However, modern teaching methods are suitable for the current century to cope up with surroundings and environments.

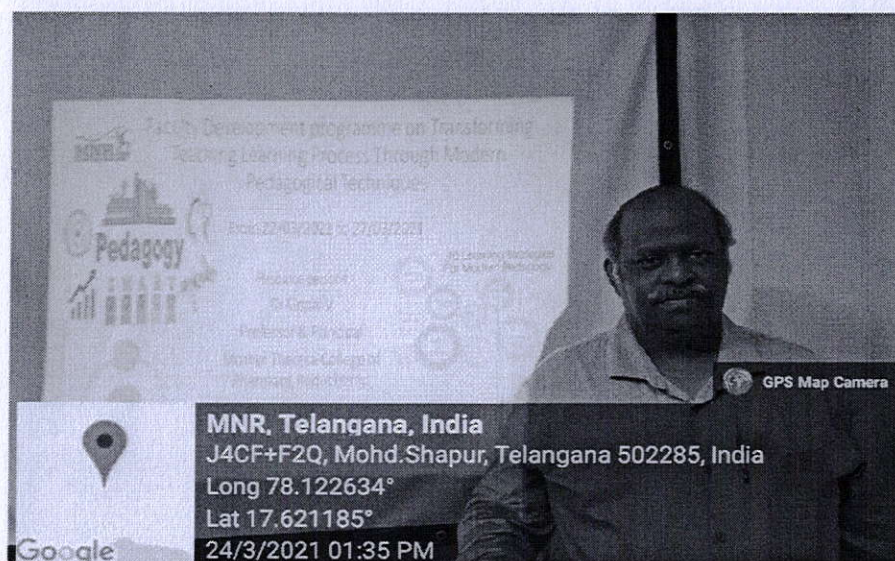

Teachers are introducing different innovative ideas to explain the content to learners. Also, it is the responsibility of teachers to teach students with suitable and modern methods. It is a teacher who plays a vital part in students' success. So, it becomes the duty of a teacher to take a step towards accepting modern methods of teaching. To provide a sound education, there should be an amalgamation of a skilled teacher and innovative ways of teaching. So that

Objectives: MNR College of Pharmacy had Successfully organized A One Week Faculty Development Programme on Strategies and Advancements in Research and Development-Strengthening Academicians for Pharmaceutical Care. The main objective of the program is to discuss about Global Vision for Education and Workforce, A set of Pharmaceutical Workforce Development Goals (PWDGs), A set of Statements on Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Sciences Education. It also provided an insight on urgent need to initiate an academic exercise aimed at attaining revamping of curriculum, keeping in pace with current and emerging trends in the field of pharmacy. Unfortunately, all these years, enough emphasis was not laid on strengthening the components of Community Pharmacy, Hospital and Clinical pharmacy. The ability of a nation to use and create knowledge capital determines its capacity to empower and enable its pharmaceutical workforce development.

Topics covered:

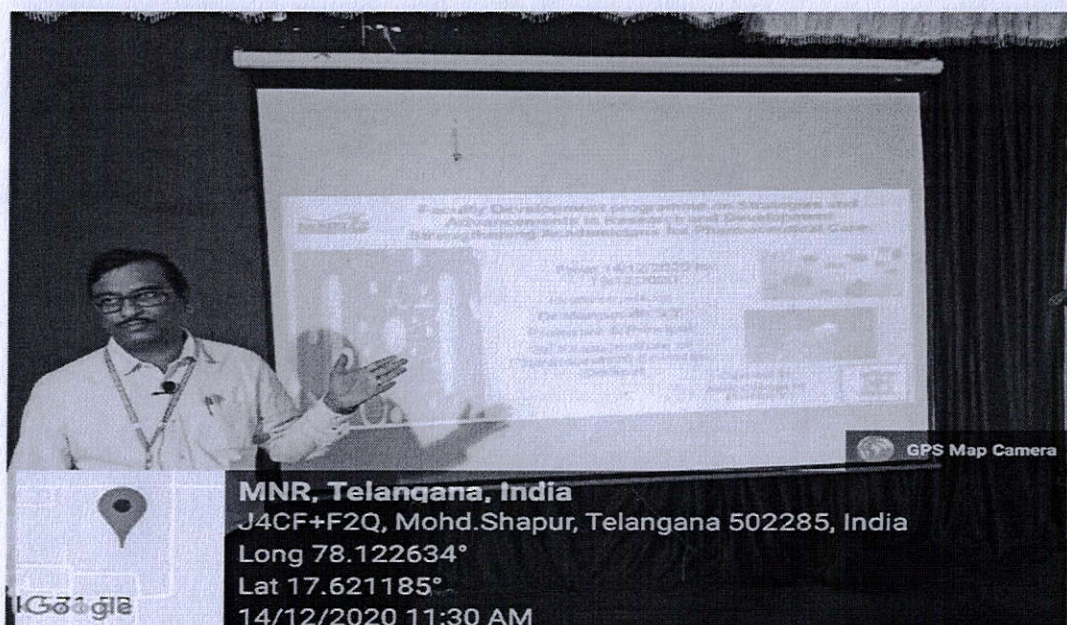

- Progress towards the Pharmaceutical Workforce Development Goals (PWDGs).
- Strategies for advancing the global pharmaceutical workforce agenda
- From workforce intelligence to workforce development
- Building academic capacity and the academic workforce
- Leadership development: preparing the pharmaceutical workforce
- Research and development in technology-driven education

Outcome of the Programme:

The responses from the participants were overwhelming. The participants expressed that it is a rare opportunity for them, and the information given is very informative and effective. Provides strong evidence that leadership bodies and membership organizations are already able to use the global structure provided by the Global Vision and PWDGs to describe current national strategies and mechanisms for workforce development, including education and training. More comprehensive situational analysis must be undertaken, building on this initial report, one which sets out the way for a clear planning and action route for transformative development of the global workforce – together with a set of measurable workforce actions that will provide the foundations for future pharmaceutical healthcare delivery. Adopting this imperative is a necessity to underpin the future development of our profession.
